Group home limits demanded by council

By AL POST
ANP Staff Writer

Frustration over the growing number of adult foster homes locating in Romulus has spurred the City Council into calling a Aug. 22 meeting with Department of Social Services officials.

For years the number of group homes in Romulus has been growing, Councilman Noah (Pete) Bergeron complained on June 27, but no one in authority has listened to complaints from the city.

Bergeron asked City Clerk Linda Choate to notify Social Services and others that a meeting was needed as soon as possible to discuss the issue.

Letters were sent to the Social Services office and that of Wayne Community Living Services. Social Services agreed to send a representative to the 6 p.m. meeting on Aug. 22, but Community Living Services

Social Services should consider making Romulus off limits for any more group homes until surrounding towns catch up with us in the number of such homes.

- Ellis Pennington

declined, Choate reported.

State Rep. Greg Pitoniak said a representative from his office also will be in attendance. State Senate candidate Charles Griffin also agreed to attend the session.

Councilman Ellis Pennington declared "Social Services should consider making Romulus off limits for any more group homes until surrounding towns catch up with us in the number of such homes."

"We already have 41 such homes, it seems like there is one on every block," Pennington said.

Bergeron and Mayor pro tem Mary Ann Banks added that in addition to the excessive number of group homes within the city, the large number of inhabitants also put a major strain on the school district budget.

"The school district has to pay to bus these persons to an out-of-town work project and back" until they reach their 27th birthday, Banks said.

She also said "we are going to need some strong help from Lansing on this saturation issue."

Primary election Tuesday

By AL POST
ANP Staff Writer

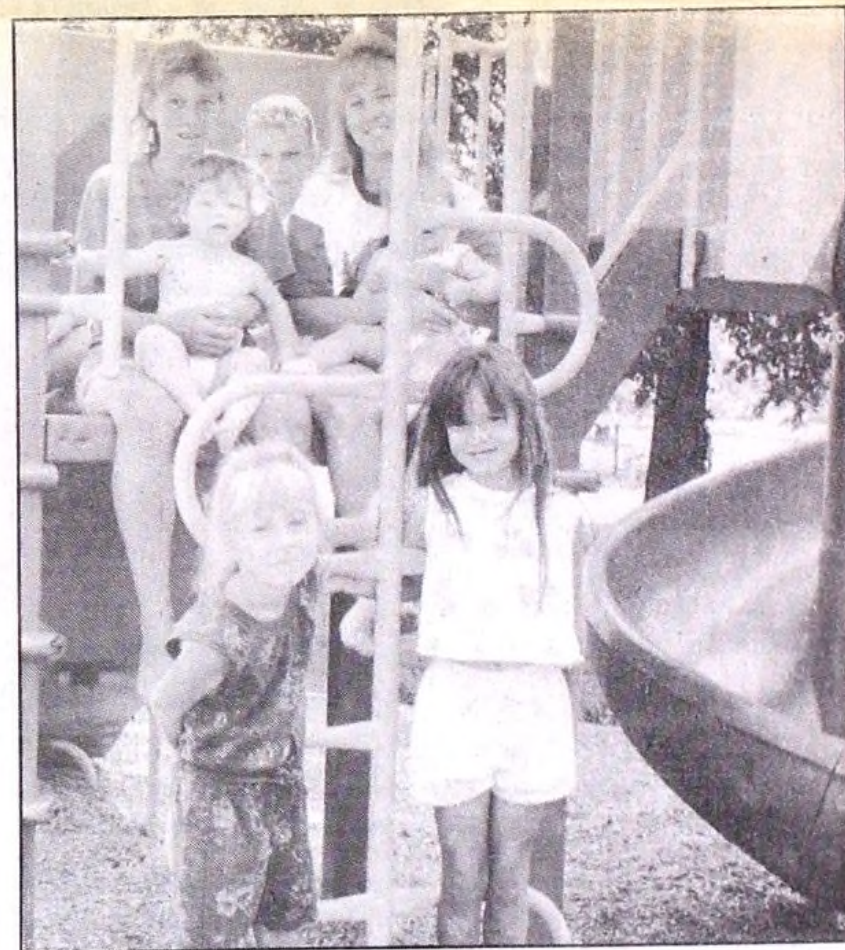

A repeat match-up between Democrat 22nd District State Rep. Gregory Pitoniak and his challenger, Catalina Hall, will occur next Tuesday in Romulus and Taylor.

Pitoniak, of Taylor, easily won re-election to the newly designed 22nd District two years ago, but Hall beat him among Romulus voters. This year, he vows, he plans to win the Romulus end of the two-city contest.

Hall, of Romulus, decried the fact that Pitoniak failed to give voters a chance to see the real difference between the two candidates by appearing at a debate with her.

Hall said she definitely is "in this race to win" next Tuesday and hopes that her "victory will encourage more women to enter political races in Michigan."

35 speeders ticketed

By AL POST
ANP Staff Writer

Swift ticketing actions by Romulus police last weekend aimed at curtailing dangerous speeders on Woodmont Avenue were praised by Meadows Subdivision residents Monday night.

Mayor Beverly McAnally and City Council members were told that 20 children under the age of 12 play daily on Woodmont Avenue and adjoining streets and their safety is put into jeopardy by speeding motorists.

A letter signed by 50 area residents was sent to city officials, including Police Chief Robert Brown, prior to the Monday night meeting asking for stepped up police patrols and the erection of a stop sign at the Woodmont Avenue and Maple Court intersection.

Brown said he agreed "the stop sign alone" would not curb speeders, citing that it would also take team work between police patrols and alert neighbors.

"Thirty-five tickets were written this weekend," Brown said, "so I think the message of safety will get out very quickly."

McAnally added "we want to work with you to keep our streets as safe as possible."

McAnally said the police department is also looking into the possibility of adding mountain bikes to the police travel package.

"We're hoping such a move could bring a new closeness between the police and our citizens," McAnally said.

The letter sent to city officials last week warned "it only takes a minute or two for a speeding driver to leave the neighborhood" and only "a fraction of a second for a tragedy to occur."

The residents claimed that it was usually a half hour before a patrol police car would respond.

"We expect a response to this petition within a reasonable length of time (before a possible death) occurs. We will also be attending City Council meetings until this problem is attended to," the neighbors wrote.

They jointly thanked Brown, McAnally and the City Council for a swift response to the cry for help. Now they said they would anxiously await the installation of stop and caution signs.

Survey shows increased teen sexual activity

By AL POST
ANP Staff Writer

Sixty-five percent of 11th grade Romulus High School students admit to have engaged in sexual activity, a recent school survey prepared for the Institute for Children, Youth and Families of Michigan State University revealed.

According to the same survey of seventh, ninth and 11th graders at Romulus High, 37 percent of seventh graders and 52 percent of ninth graders also admitted to having sex at least once.

The survey results also reveal that 52 percent of those who claim to have engaged in sex by the 11th grade, also state they always used contracption and 47 percent state they have had sex four or more times.

It also was noted that 63 percent of seventh graders stated they were still virgins, while 48 percent of ninth graders and 35 percent of 11th graders made the same claim.

The survey was conducted by Search Institute of Minneapolis, Minn. in December 1993. It is part of a larger study entitled "Community Based Profile of Michigan Youth" and was funded by RespecTeen, a national program of Lutheran Brotherhood Fraternal Benefit Society.

The survey team said a final sample of 638 student forms were used and 65 were discarded due to inconsistent responding, missing data on 40 or more items, or reports of unrealistically high use of alcohol or drugs.

The report also states that 43 percent of seventh graders used alcohol in the last 12 months, while 73 percent of ninth graders and 65 percent of 11th graders made the same claim.

Other statistics revealed:

- 74 percent of seventh graders live with two parents most of the time, 67 percent of ninth graders and 70 percent of 11th graders do the same.
- 48 percent of seventh, ninth and 11th graders all said they enjoy school.
- 50 percent of the parents of seventh graders help their children with school work, while that number drops to 35 percent of ninth grader parents and 16 percent of 11th grader parents.

- 45 percent of seventh graders are involved in school musical programs, with 35 percent of ninth graders and 27 percent of 11th graders are so involved.
- 47 percent of seventh graders are on school sports teams, while 31 percent of ninth graders and 37 percent of 11th graders are also team members.
- 51 percent of seventh graders take part in church or synagogue activities, as are 38 percent of ninth graders and 35 percent of 11th graders.
- 80 percent of seventh and ninth graders report having a good conversation with a parent lasting 10 minutes or more in past month, with that number jumping to 83 percent for 11th graders.

- 79 percent of seventh graders stated they helped other people recently, with 69 percent of ninth graders and 70 percent of 11th graders saying the same.
- 51 percent of seventh graders claimed to have high self esteem, with 43 percent of ninth graders and 57 percent of 11th graders stating the same.
- 72 percent of seventh graders state they worry a lot about the future, with 84 percent of both the ninth and 11th graders having the same fears.

Public safety training ends

By AL POST
ANP Staff Writer

Romulus and Canton Township police officers were among 30 public safety specialists attending a three-day advanced critical incident management seminar last week to prepare themselves to handle incidents as diverse as tornado strikes, police hostage situations and a possible hazardous material spill on a community college campus.

"This is the first such advanced training seminar we have held in the country to date," Robert Mathis, manager of police training and education for the International Association of Chiefs of Police, "and we are looking forward to the critique we get back from the officers involved here."

Mathis conducted the basic course on critical incident management for 75 persons in Romulus last year. "We were so impressed with then Lt. Robert Brown (now Romulus police chief) when we were here last year, we selected Romulus as the site for the pilot course this year," Mathis said.

"This is the first such advanced training seminar we have held in the country to date and we are looking forward to the critique we get back from the officers involved here."

- Robert Mathis

Four Romulus public safety officials attended the seminar. They included Police Sgts. Darryl Poe and John M. Myers, Officer Jerry Champagne and Emergency Management Coordinator Margaret LeDuc of the Romulus Fire Department.

Two Canton Police officers, Lt. Pat Nemecek and Sgt. Joseph Bippus, also attended the seminar.

Others taking part in the seminar were from the Metro Detroit area and other departments throughout Michigan. Cindy Buchholz from Dade County, Florida, came the longest distance, Mathis said.

The public safety officials attending the seminar were given simulated incidents that would involve coordinated action by police, fire and public works agents and were then asked to formulate a plan of action for their city.

Assisting in seminar training were Sgt. Vince Stehlin of the St. Louis Police Department and Albert H. Fluman, an emergency training specialist from the National Emergency Training Center in Emmitsburg, Md.

Belleville attorneys seek judgeship

Chapman vies for post

Attorney Josephine Chapman, a longtime Belleville resident, is one of four candidates seeking a judgeship in the 34th District Court.

The two top candidates will face each other in the November general election for the post.

Chapman received her undergraduate degree from Eastern Michigan University and her juris doctor from Thomas M. Cooley Law School in Lansing. Her areas of practice have been in family, probate, landlord-tenant, real estate and criminal law.

If elected, Chapman would bring crime prevention and education programs to the court. She also would like to institute a night court so that working citizens would not lose time from work.

In addition, Chapman would like to see the 34th District court hire a full-time substance abuse counselor. She would like to see the root causes of spouse abuse addressed in spouse abuse counseling programs at the court.

She would like to see the court open its doors to the average citizen and provide programs for youth and seniors alike. Law Day would be one of the programs which would bring the court closer to the community by hosting court at various high schools in the five communities served by the court, Chapman said.

"By holding court at the various high schools, senior students would be exposed to the workings of the court," Chapman said.

man said. "There are many problems at the 34th District Court. We have the scandal of the missing funds and the long investigation that has placed a dark cloud over the community," she said.

Other questions also must be answered, said Chapman, noting that "the wisdom and judgment of prematurely paying off the court administrator who 'supposedly' absconded with part of the missing $270,000 has not been fully explained, and why the individual who blew the whistle which started the investigation was phased out of a job. Before the court can regain a semblance of respect these questions must be answered."

Chapman is a member of the State Bar of Michigan, Women Lawyer's Association, Chamber of Commerce, Belleville Area Music Committee, Council for the Arts and the Central Business Community.

Editor's note: Josephine Chapman will face incumbent Judge Felix Rogalle and attorneys Mark Maironis and Tina Brooks Green in the Aug. 2 primary.

Maironis campaigns

Attorney and former magistrate Mark Maironis is seeking a 34th District Court judgeship.

Maironis attended Eastern Michigan University and Wayne State University and received a juris doctor degree from the Detroit College of Law.

When asked what can be done to ensure the future integrity of the court operations, Maironis said, "Purportedly, the court has implemented the recommendations it received as a result of the recent audit. Assuming that, I would retain an independent auditor to conduct a review of those recommendations in order to determine that they are being followed by all personnel; and second that they are sufficient of themselves, to prevent any future breaches of the court's integrity. Additionally, I would set up a monitoring system utilizing the five communities to conduct random samplings to ensure not only that monies are being properly controlled, but that proper accountings are being made to the communities involved."

In response to the question of possible changes in court operations, Maironis said, "I would establish a permanent monitoring system to verify the accuracy of all accounting transactions and procedures. Further, a study of other local district courts and their procedures could be used as a gauge in determining the effectiveness of this court's operations as well as a source for new ideas and possible future changes."

Commenting on a possible split in the 34th District Court into 34 and 34-A courts, Maironis said, "Whether or not there is a split of the court is a legislative function, not a judicial one. Nonetheless, I would be hopeful that the communities would seriously review the implications that such a split would cause."

When asked how the court can be more accountable and accessible to the communities it serves, Maironis said, "The answer is relatively easy. All of the communities should have complete access to any information which effects its share of their revenues received by the court. This information is a matter of public record, and as such, should be willingly made public. Additionally, the court should be responsive to any recommendations from the various communities relative to how its current operations effect that community. In essence, this would constitute an open-door policy. One that is a reality, not merely a convenient phrase."

Police investigate death of 57-year-old man

By AL POST
ANP Staff Writer

Romulus traffic officers were still probing the truck-pedestrian death of a 57-year-old Romulus man this week-end, with charges pending against a Taylor driver.

Romulus police said they were investigating alcohol and speed elements that caused the death of Charles Summers, a native of Scotland, who was struck and killed by a truck as he walked along Van Born Road about 1 a.m. on July 16.

Police were alerted about 9 a.m. that day to Mr. Summer's body that was lying a distance from the street.

About 11 a.m. the alleged driver walked into Romulus Police Headquarters and reported he thought he "hit something" on Van Born Road earlier in the day, but wasn't sure what it was.

After examining his stalled truck, police said, charges will be filed, but they were not sure of the exact violations that will be entered against the man.

Mr. Summer's funeral was conducted last Tuesday at Vermeulen Funeral Home in Westland. The family recommends that memorials be sent to any local chapter of Mothers Against Drunk Drivers.

also feels that the Engler administration doesn't care enough about the environment and wants stepped up curbside recycling and composting programs.

Battling couple return to court

By JENNIFER PLACINTO
ANP Staff Writer

An estranged husband and wife, who have each been accused of criminal offenses against the other, are straightening out their differences in Westland 18th District Court following the most recent incident in which the Belleville man allegedly attempted to push the Westland woman into traffic and tried to run her over with his vehicle, according to Westland police reports.

David Paul Freed, 36, who was on parole for spouse abuse, pleaded no contest to this additional spouse abuse charge. A no contest plea means the defendant does not want the facts of the case presented and the judge relies on the police report for the information, treating the plea as guilty, according to Westland 18th District Court administrator David Wiacek. Released after posting $2,500 bond, Freed will return to court Aug. 16 for sentencing.

Karen Lynn Freed, 35, was arraigned on the misdemeanor charges of reckless driving and malicious destruction of property. She pleaded guilty to the destruction charge and was released on a $5,000 personal bond pending sentencing and pre-trial on the driving charge Aug. 16.

Both defendants are forbid-

- Judge C. Charles Bokos

den from any contact and face a maximum sentence of 90 days in jail on each of the misdemeanor offenses.

The assault charges against David Freed were filed following an alleged incident which occurred at 6:25 p.m., July 20, after the couple, who are in the process of a divorce, arrived at Regal Liquor and Meat Market, located 1615 Merriman Road in Westland.

When the Westland woman got out of Freed's 1985 Chevy Blazer, the defendant attempted to run her over, police reports said. The woman later got back into the car and asked Freed to take her home, police said.

While traveling northbound on Merriman, the assailant began to drive erratically and the woman told her estranged husband to stop the car near Merriman and Glen roads where she exited with his work bag, reports said.

Freed then allegedly grabbed her and attempted to push her into traffic, according to police.

According to defendant, the victim called her estranged husband to have him take her grocery shopping and although it was a violation of his probation, the Belleville man said he drove the woman there to pick up some groceries for herself and the couple's two children.

“On the way out of the store she took some of my belongings and she walked away. I try to do her favors, but every time I end up in jail or getting hurt,” Freed said.

Freed claimed the two were struggling over his work bag when the victim stepped out into traffic.

The charges brought against Karen Freed resulted from a June 11 incident in which she allegedly rammed her car into the back of David Freed's vehicle while pursuing him, according to Wiacek. The malicious destruction charge was brought following a July 12 incident in which the woman allegedly broke out the side window of her estranged husband's Blazer, Wiacek added.

During David Freed's arraignment on July 21, he claimed the woman also assaulted him with a hammer. Westland police are currently seeking a warrant to charge Karen Freed in connection with the alleged incident, Wiacek said.

Throughout David Freed's arraignment, 18th District Judge C. Charles Bokos expressed deep concern over the couple's behavior.

“I remember this case because the woman appeared in court with a black eye,” Bokos said referring to the previous assault. “The victim posted the $10,000 bond that afternoon,” Bokos added.

“I'm not sure what will happen between you people. This case has me worried to death,” Bokos said after setting the bond. “Someone's going to get killed and I'm worried about that.”

Wiacek said police reports indicate that Freed has attempted to kill his estranged wife and “she refuses to sign the violations because of fear of reprisals.”

4 colleges offer classes at site

Wayne County Community College (WCCC) students will soon be rubbing elbows with students from the Detroit College of Business, Siena Heights College and Central Michigan University - all at the Western Center campus.

The Western Center, which is being developed as a university center, is located at 9555 Haggerty Road in Van Buren Township, will host classes of the three institutions in addition to offering courses in biology, history, mathematics, political science, speech and English.

Final registration for the WCCC classes is slated from Aug. 8 to 13. Classes begin on Aug. 25.

Last month, WCCC and Detroit College of Business renewed their articulation agreement, and will begin offering classes at the Western Center in the fall.

“We are continually looking for ways to outreach to students. The Belleville location gives Detroit College of Business a presence on the western side of the Detroit metro area and we believe it is a positive move,” said Jim Farmer, vice president of admissions for the business college.

Registration and enrollment information for classes in human relations in management, supervisory management, managerial accounting, medical law and ethics, psychological health concerns and women in management is available by calling 581-4400, extension 248, 249 or 264.

Siena Heights College will offer courses in stress management, social ethics and the adult learner in September and classes in social psychology, human relations between the sexes and the adult learner in November. Registration information is available by calling 1-800-787-7784.

Personnel administration is being offered in the extended degree program at Central Michigan University. Information is available by call 1-800-688-4512.

Father's incest trial ends in deadlocked jury

By JENNIFER PLACINTO
ANP Staff Writer

A 31-year-old Westland father faces a second trial on charges that he sexually assaulted his 8-year-old son after a Detroit Recorder's Court jury failed to decide on his guilt or innocence.

The mistrial was pronounced after a one-week jury trial which ended with closing arguments July 21 before Recorder's Judge Maggie Drake. A new trial was scheduled for Jan. 23, 1995.

The defendant, who's name is being withheld in an effort to protect the victim, is charged with two counts of first-degree criminal sexual conduct (CSC) and two counts of second-degree CSC for alleged sexual acts involving penetration with his young son, Westland police Sgt. Laura Moore said.

He told the youth that this was the way he showed love for him. Now the child will equate homosexual acts with love.
- Sgt. Laura Moore

“He was sodomizing and having oral sex with his own natural son for over a year. He told the youth that this was the way he showed love for him,” Moore said.

“Now the child will equate homosexual acts with love,” Moore added.

Moore said the man threatened his son saying “he would make his father go to jail,” if he told anyone.

Although the defendant was released after his employer posted a $10,000/10 percent bond, he is prohibited from contact with any youths under age 18 without another adult present as a condition of the bond.

If convicted, the man would be required to have an Acquired Immune Deficiency Syndrome (AIDS) test and could be sentenced to a maximum of 15 years in prison for the second-degree charges and up to life imprisonment if convicted of the first-degree counts.

The incidents allegedly occurred from Dec. 22, 1992 to October 1993 at night when the mother was away from the family home, the youth testified.

“He would wake me up. We'd take a shower in my bathroom. After he'd say 'keep your clothes off' and tell me to go to my mom's bedroom,” the child testified during preliminary examination in Westland 18th District Court.

The boy testified to explicit sex acts he claimed his father had committed with him including sodomy and oral sex. The incidents occurred about twice a week at the home located on the 38500 block of Canyon Road.

The youth said he told his 6-year-old sister about the incidents after his father moved out when the parents were in the process of divorce.

Although the boy denied the allegations when his mother originally approached him, he later admitted that the alleged assaults occurred, according to court testimony.

Ruling due in murder trial

By MARGO DEWEY
Deputy News Editor

Detroit Recorder's Court Judge Geraldine Ford is expected to decide on a motion to “quash” information in a preliminary examination involving a Wayne man charged with second-degree murder this Friday.

Archie Brandenburg was arrested by Wayne police for allegedly shooting to death 19-year-old Taylor resident Steven James Taylor Jan. 26.

“Testimony has been taken and there has been a motion made to quash the information, but a decision on the motion has not taken place just yet,” said prosecuting attorney Michael King.

Quash means to “annul, overthrow or vacate by judicial decision,” according to Giles Law Dictionary.

The incident occurred at Brandenburg's home on First Street at approximately 7:20 p.m., according to Wayne Police Chief John Colligan.

Various witnesses testified during the initial examination March 2 in the 29th District Court before visiting Judge John McCartney. According to statements from Dr. Zia Sabet, Wayne County assistant medical examiner, one bullet went through the chest of Taylor. It traveled through the breast bone and then through the left side of the heart and aorta, according to Sabet.

Brandenburg allegedly first met Taylor at Goodman's Feed Store where the young man was an employee. As a result of the testimony, court officials learned that Brandenburg had visited Taylor to discuss the value of a few old coins.

During the examination at the 29th District Court, a taped conversation was played between Brandenburg and a Wayne police dispatcher which revealed the defendant informed the police official that he didn't know what happened that day.

“I had a guy come over here to sort out some coins,” Brandenburg allegedly said to the dispatcher. “I let this guy in. When I woke up, he disappeared. He's dead.”

If the defendant is found guilty of second-degree murder, he could receive up to life in prison for the felony offense.

Thief leaves truck, takes cycle

By LAURIE HUMPHREY
ANP Staff Writer

Local police are searching for a young man who reportedly stole a motorcycle from a Canton Township residence after leaving a stolen truck for collateral.

A 24-year-old man called police July 10 and reported that his 1992 Suzuki motorcycle, which he was trying to sell, was taken for a test drive by a potential buyer and never returned. The alleged thief had left a Ford truck in front of the Canton residence, he told police.

According to police, the “white man, with brown hair and eyes, drove the vehicle up and down the street several times before turning the corner and driving away.

In an attempt to retrieve the man's name from vehicle registration, authorities discovered the truck was reported stolen out of Flint.

The suspect is between 20- and 25-years-old, five-feet nine-inches and weighs 185 pounds. He is alleging that he is a rodeo rider from Oklahoma who is staying with a sister in Ypsilanti.

A set of fingerprints were taken from the truck as evidence. Police also confiscated a map of metro-Detroit and note pad from inside the truck.

Motorcycle recovered, suspect apprehended

Canton Township police are responsible for bringing a 19-year-old Belleville man to justice and reuniting a Sumpter man with his new motorcycle.

Russell Ezekiel Stewart was stopped on the stolen 1994 motorcycle as he boarded the ramp from northbound Interstate 275 to Michigan Avenue. He showed authorities a driver's permit, but was unable to produce registration for the bike.

According to local police, the motorcycle was stolen from an east side parking lot at Draw-Tite factory on Van Born Road. The vehicle was taken between 5:30 p.m. and 8:45 p.m. on July 7.

The cycle owner had purchased the bike a week before. Stewart will have his preliminary examination in 35th District Court Friday.

A brutal battle

Victims are rendered helpless by their terror. Assaults are filled with remorse and embarrassment. It is the ruin of families, the fear which fills the eyes of innocent children and the pain of a family secret often too horrible to even acknowledge.

Spousal abuse, the brutal battering of one marriage partner by the other is a horror of our society that is, by all accounts, on a dramatic increase throughout this area despite the best efforts of the police and the courts to control and correct this shameful atrocity.

Within the past 30 days, according to court reports, the incidence of spousal abuse have increased dramatically. This despite the policies of the Westland 18th District Court where judges Gail McKnight and C. Charles Bokos have been among the first to adopt the "no-drop" practice which prevents the victims of these beatings to drop charges allowing their assailants to escape any punishment. In Wayne, Judge Carolyn Archbold is well known for her immediate, firm and consistent practice of maximum sentencing of those involved in domestic violence cases.

And still, the incidents have begun to increase. And, according to some of the judges, become even more violent and life-threatening to victims. While there are many theories about the reason—the fact that these incidents are increasing is alarming and frightening even to those who deal with them on a daily basis.

Police officers know that they usually face more danger from an irate, drunken husband interrupted in his assault on his wife than from a barricaded gunman...the gunman is usually far more rational. And, with the gunman, the victim doesn't often turn on them to help the assailant.

This outbreak of violence puzzles and confounds those charged with enforcing the laws prohibiting the battering of one person by another. It is always amazing when people who have sworn to love one another 'till death do them part seem to feel that they have the right to hasten that parting by death at their own hand.

Is there more of this heinous affront to society? Or is it that the publicity given the crime has prompted more reports in an effort to halt the crime? Only time will tell. Perhaps, at our most optimistic, we can hope that this rising number of complaints and arrests will reach a peak and then fall, just as dramatically as those who face the courts and the legal system no longer attempt such acts of violence and hate.

But if that is not the case, then we commend our area judges who are, in fact, doing everything in their power to correct this situation. Those who are doing the most to prevent this horror are those who are demanding that the spouses committing these acts face the full consequences of the law...without exception.

They are making this a better place for us all.

Clear and present danger

There is a danger lurking in each and every community—one which is as alluring and seductive to some as any entertainment known. But the danger is clear and ever present—and too often, warnings are not made public enough to dissipate the attraction.

Many find the temptation of walking along or on the railroad tracks in the area too much to resist...and all too often, these same individuals have never been warned of the dangers inherent in this action.

Years ago, every parent cautioned youngsters of the dangers of the tracks. Children, and adults, knew what to watch for and were mindful of the dangers of the tracks. Today, however, too many parents were never warned and do not think to warn children and the result is death and injury.

Many individuals do not understand the dangers of activity on the tracks. Trains cannot stop quickly and often individuals do not hear the train or cannot get off the tracks. When a train is traveling fast enough, an individual too close to the tracks can get sucked beneath the moving train wheels.

It is illegal in Michigan to trespass onto railroad property. Last year, eight people were killed and nine injured while trespassing on or near railroad tracks in Michigan.

Even one is too many. The lessons of the past should be passed on to the youngsters of today. Grandma, after all, did know what she was talking about.

Column earns reader's praise

To the editor:
I was deeply moved after having read "Other side of the Meridian," June 23, 1994, edition. It was a work of art and is now a part of my personal scrapbook.

Over the years, I have not always agreed with Tom Mooradian's views, but I have always agreed that he is an outstanding, and very talented journalist. I am grateful for the time he has been associated with the Inkster community, and felt compelled to express my feelings in writing.

Clinton offered helpful advice

To the editor:
In a democracy we have so many rights sometimes we don't know how, where, or when to use them.

How often do we hear others say, "This is a free country." Usually this is said when we have forgotten there are limitations on our freedom of expression.

So, "Rights" and "Freedoms" are there for us, but we must always remember there are forces against them. Let us for a moment think about the forces against Civil Rights. There is a tendency and effort on the part of people in power to stay put, as is, and to extend and perpetuate their influence. People in the majority do not want to fall back into the minority. The danger involved is the majority may try to suppress those opposed to them and this can most effectively be done by limiting their right to speak out in dissent.

The forces against President Clinton were also against President Kennedy intensely, also President Carter, but even more intensely against President Clinton.

The sources of these forces are the rich, the racist, the bigot, and many Republicans. All Democrats should give a helping hand to President Clinton at this time.

I am not concerned about his personal affairs, but I am concerned about his efforts in trying to carry out his campaign promises and his behavior as President of the United States.

Leaders must not only have a mind of their own, but must circulate and observe what is happening, so they can speak with authority on issues. They should be positive in making statements.

LETTERS

I am well aware of the vast distance that can lay between statements of fact and opinion. The former being actionable and the latter being not actionable.

Finally, it is my sincere belief that if President Clinton would ignore the "Black Caucus," his rating would arise 11 percent within 11 days; 11 days later, should he call a "shake-up" and chance his methods used in his campaigns to bring us together, he would gain another 11 percent. Why? Because the rich, the racist, the bigot, and some Republicans would be relieved and become more realistic about the many good things President Clinton has done for this country and its people.

Officers praise city administrators

To the editor:
Recently the City of Wayne experienced a "first." For the first time in history the Wayne Police Command Officers' Association reached a collective bargaining agreement prior to the expiration of the previous agreement. Hopefully, this will become the rule rather than the exception. The new agreement takes effect on 7-01-94 and runs for three years.

Compromises were made by both sides, and everyone involved felt it was a fair and comparable agreement. The bitter feelings between labor and management that often accompany long, drawn out negotiations were avoided.

We offer both our respect and our thanks to the city's negotiating team (and those administrators and elected officials who supported them) for the professionalism and courtesy extended to us throughout the negotiations.

Council actions are praised

To the editor:
I was pleased to read in your June 30 edition that attempts by Mayor Thomas and certain Westland residents to block the Value City Shopping Center and the Arbor Town Shopping Center have failed.

Allowing land owners to develop their properties in a legal manner is certainly a step in the right direction. Restrictive zoning laws have long been an intrusion on the rights of the citizens of this nation, and while this is not a rebuff to those laws, it is one instance where political whim did not win out over the property rights which are a pillar in the foundation of this great country.

If the citizens in the Cooper Elementary neighborhood desire to have an idle buffer between their properties and any commercial developments, it is, or was, their prerogative to purchase it. They certainly shouldn't be looking to the citizens of this community to subsidize their desires, or to the city to use its power to violate the property rights of the land owners.

Couple offers 'cook off' suggestions

To the editor:
This letter is to voice our concern and disappointment at the crowd control and parking problems associated with last weekend's Great Chili Cookoff. We love the idea of the chili cookoff and the various stars that come to entertain, but were many shortcomings as well. The area chosen for the chili cookoff seems much too small to handle the crowds that come to enjoy it. Have you ever considered using possibly Wayne Memorial High School field for the event? Or better still how about working with Westland and using the open area at Michigan Avenue and Merri-man? Both areas seem better suited to handle the crowds.

As for parking, we think you would be better served to work out some kind of shuttle service to and from the events main area. If you still want to have it downtown, how about having parking available at the high school with a shuttle bus running people back and forth? It makes far more sense than having to deal with the lack of parking area available. People were parking at businesses that were open and customers of these businesses either had to park blocks away or just not complete their business. It wasn't fair for customers or the businesses in the community. If you were to poll these businesses, I wonder how much business was lost because of this event.

As we said, we enjoy attending this event but there are things that need to be done to improve it. We believe that by possibly moving the event or making the parking situation better, and making it more handicap accessible, the event would be much more enjoyable for one and all.

Crowd control needs work also. The main problem seemed to be the people who insisted on standing blocking other people's view of the entertainers. Most of these people were intoxicated and when asked to please sit down became argumentative. We personally don't want to have our daughter subjected to that kind of environment. Also, in that crowd there was no room to move or to possibly get medical assistance if it were needed.

In closing, we really enjoy attending this event but our concerns need to be addressed and dealt with. We would appreciate your input and comments concerning this.

Resident expresses gratitude

To the editor:
I would like to take this opportunity to personally thank each of the members serving on the Dignity of Independence Committee and to all the Westland firefighters and their friends who took the time to sell and cook the "walking tacos" at the Westland Summer Festival and selling raffle tickets. With all your support, I will be receiving a service dog from PAWS WITH A CAUSE which will enable me to become more independent since I am a wheelchair user.

In addition, my thanks to Jennifer Placinto and The Westland Eagle for their news coverage, Bob's Meat Market and Randazzo's Fruit Market for their generous contribution to the Westland Firefighters Public Awareness Committee in offsetting some of the costs for their sale of "walking tacos."

My thanks to all those persons who purchased "walking tacos" and raffle tickets. With all your help and support, and the support from the community, I have been given the opportunity to become more independent and my quality of life will improve dramatically.

My sincere thanks to all.

Superior Sports wins Wayne softball crown

Superior Sports proved to be the superior team in a field of 16 that sought the 1994 Patrolman Len Anderson Softball Tournament title this year. Superior turned back Adray Appliance in the championship round to claim the title on Sunday. Team members display plaques and the first-place trophy (photo above). Westland is 3rd-best in field of 16

On a day made for baseball and softball, Superior Sports members made their field of dreams come true.

The Canton-based softball club held on to beat a determined Ford Adray in the finals, 11-8, to surface as the 1994 Wayne Invitational Softball Tournament champions.

The champs beat out 15 outstanding clubs, including one from Texas, to walk off of the diamond Sunday as the best in the field.

"It was an exciting and excellent tournament," said Larry Quartuccio, who has served as tournament manager for all 18 invitationals. "And Superior showed that it had the best team this year."

The tournament is named for Patrolman Lenny Anderson, the first Wayne police officer slain in the line of duty. Anderson was killed after responding to a domestic quarrel in 1974.

Superior and Ford Adray had to slug their way into the finals. Adray disposed of Critter Control, 8-2, and derailed a tough Westland J & K Transportation team, 16-13.

In the meantime, Superior pounded out 23 hits and beat J & K, 17-11, to set up showdown with Adray.

Superior found Adray ready for the challenge as Adray drew first blood off of winning pitcher Jeff Price, who gave up four runs in the opening inning. However, Superior came back with three of their own in the bottom of the inning.

Adray widened the gap and made it a 5-3 ball game in the second. However, losing pitcher Terry Taylor failed to keep the lead as Superior, behind the overall hitting of Rog Siedlik, Jeff Sheeran and Jeff Ruffini came back with three runs in their third to move out front for the first time, 6-5.

Adray didn't cave in as the Dearborn club replied with three more runs in the fourth to again move ahead, 8-6.

Three Superior runs in the fourth and two insurance tallies in the fifth sealed the victory for Superior and doomed Adray.

Siedlik had a pair of hits off of Taylor, connecting for a triple and a single while driving in three runs. Sheeran also had three RBIs, thanks to a double and single, while Ruffini checked in with a single and double.

On the other side of the hit parade, Rob Schleede hammered a homer off of Price, the only roundtripper in the finals. He also had a pair of singles and a double.

Terry McDaniels, Tony Anzenberger and Taylor accounted for two singles apiece.

Adray erupted for three runs in the fourth inning and put four more on the scoreboard in the fifth en route to an 8-2 victory over Critter Control. Losing pitcher Jim Olson gave up a homer and three RBIs to Tom Lengyel, while Dave Pagac and Mike Pouliot also had a couple of singles each.

Control player Scott Hille blasted a two-run homer in the opening frame against Taylor to account for all of his team's runs. Teammate Mike Dest doubled off of Taylor, who twirled a four-hitter for the day.

J & K Transportation, one of the favorites of the tournament, struck for five runs in the first inning and three more in the second and built up an 8-2 lead against Adray before their hopes were dashed in the semifinals. Adray answered with eight big runs in the third and overcame a 12-10 deficit with a five-run surge in the fifth to take control of the key to the semis.

Anzenberger again wielded a strong bat as he connected for a home run and two singles off of loser Rick Wayne. Wayne also had his problems with Terry McDaniels and Dave Pagac, who split six singles between them. Taylor helped his cause with a single and three runs batted in.

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

Westland will host some of the finest young baseball talent in the midwest this week.

For the second consecutive year, the city and the Westland Youth Athletic Association will co-host a Bronco Regional Baseball Invitational. The local All-Stars will take on their peers from the states of Kentucky, Indiana and Michigan.

"The tournament has a double-elimination format," said Keith DeMolay, publicist for the tournament. "If a team loses twice, it is out. These teams will be playing for the right to qualify for the next phase of the nationals, the zone tournament."

The zone tournament will be staged in early August in Indiana. However, to qualify, the team must win the regional.

The action will begin on July 29 and continue for three days until Sunday, July 31 when the championship will be decided. Games will be played at Central City Park, located behind the Westland Police Station, on Ford Road.

The WYAA entry will be managed by Steve Fedulchak and coached by Bob Allen II. Mike Wilson serves as business manager.

Westland has drafted the following players to represent it in the regional playoffs: J. T. Pillsbury (Stevenson), Darren Harvey (Stevenson), Bob Allan III (Hamilton), Dan Fedulchak (St. Mary's), Jason Gibson (Hamilton), Aaron Wilson (Schweitzer), Tim Greenleaf (Kettering).

The lineup also includes: Jeff Mitchell (Graham), Ryan Rat-tray (St. Michael), Robert Dziuban (Walker), Chad Sansom (Titus), Matt Mackiewicz (Lincoln), Sam Blouse (Stottlemeyer), Jason Pelty (St. Michael - Livonia), and Gary Finkle (Graham).

Driver sets speed mark

A Belleville race car driver continues to set the pace in professional drag racing, and in record-shattering speeds.

For the second time in two years, Scott Kalitta has qualified his American International Airways Top Fuel dragster in the number one position for the National Hot Rod Association (NHRA) Mopar Parts Mile-High Nationals.

The 32-year-old Kalitta set a track record last week with his 4.890 second run and established a track record of 290.51. This is the fourth time this season that the Belleville speedster has secured the number one qualifying position.

The national record-holder for elapsed time at 4.726 seconds, Kalitta has won the last two events on the NHRA tour and is the leader in the Winston championship points.

Scott's father and teammate, Connie, qualified his American Airlines entry in the number nine position with a run of 5.059 seconds at 281.86 mph.

Connie Kalitta, who resides in Ypsilanti, has also won two events this season and was the winner of this event in 1984 and 1985.

AREA RESIDENTS BOAST OF THEIR HOT RODS

They are hot, and their owners can't say enough about them. Collectible cars and their owners have a bond unlike no other than man's best friend. It begins with an attraction. The car lover is drawn to the classic wheels or slick body style. Once the attraction is made, there is no stopping the next phase-gotta have it syndrome.

Ask any of the die hard car enthusiasts who recently attended the Memories in Motion/Autoline Cruise Night event at Autoline in Wayne about their "hot rods," and you'll definitely find unique love stories.

Cruise nights throughout the western Wayne County area are gaining popularity at lighting speed, according to Ron Siedlak, co-owner of Autoline and organizer of Memories in Motion/Autoline Cruise Night in the City of Wayne.

"I started this one in Wayne June 15," Siedlak said. "I've been involved, however, with Cruise Nights in other communities for years. What I found is people just enjoy talking about their cars which is why you see so many people coming to events like this."

Siedlak said the car collectors enjoy swapping ideas on how to take care of their most valuable possessions as well as trade information on where to purchase the classic cars.

Canton resident Ken Johnstone collects Firebirds. He said he has purchased several in the last decade. "I rebuild them and change the engines," Johnstone said. "I have one that is a 1981, and I rebuilt the nose so it looks like a 1978."

Johnstone said he travels all over the state to look at classic cars of all makes and models. "I really like the style and body of a Firebird," Johnstone said. "I guess you can say my love for cars began as a kid. I carried that on throughout my adult years. I even worked as an engineer for a car company-Ford."

The Sligay family from Dearborn Heights share their passion for hot rods, according to Mary Sligay who is the mother of the car enthusiasts.

"We have a 1970 Chevelle," Mary Sligay said. "When my husband (Steve) wants to go to a car show, we all go. He and my son Ron can't get enough."

Sligay said their interest to collect cars was sparked when the family went to a car show last November. "My husband and son saw how much fun everyone was having, and we decided to own a collectible," Sligay said.

Besides being able to meet a lot of people from various cities and states at the shows, Sligay said she believes cruise nights allow families to "bond" together more.

"You know so many families don't take the time to be together any more, and this kind of event just lends itself to bringing families together," Sligay said. "I think so many families fall apart, and all it takes is spending time together doing something the entire family enjoys."

Lee Floyd of Pontiac said he attends the cruise nights because he appreciates how hard everyone has worked on their vehicles to get them in top shape.

"I have a 1938 Pontiac which has been totally rebuilt," Floyd said. "It had been a coupe. I bought it from a friend at an antique auto business."

Siedlak said he expects to have more than 100 classic cars parading down the street at the opening of the Wheelfest 94' extravaganza Aug. 25-28 in Wayne.

The next Memories in Motion/Autoline Cruise Night is set for 5 p.m. to 9 p.m. Aug. 10 at Autoline, 33073 Michigan Ave. Anyone needing more information about participating can contact Siedlak at 722-2233.

There will be door prizes and a 50/50 drawing that night.

Crime-biters

Couple trains canine cop corps for duty

By AL POST
ANP Staff Writer

Literally taking the "bite" out of crime are a husband-wife dog training team and their K-9 force.

"With the spiraling rate of violent crime today, the use of K-9 forces by local police departments is no longer a luxury," said K-9 trainer Terry Shoenbach of Romulus.

Shoenbach, and his wife, Diana, have been training police dogs since 1972 on their expansive rural Romulus training site. Currently, the Shoenbachs service 11 Michigan police departments and three Canadian police units.

In addition to their training duties and scores of civilian demonstrations, the husband-wife team and their two top dogs - Gator and Felony - work as a special operations unit with the Van Buren Police Department.

Most recently they aided Romulus police in the search for a rapist, who had struck earlier at a local motel. Within 10 minutes of arrival, Shoenbach said they had the rape suspect in custody about a quarter of a mile from where the incident took place. The attacker had fled into the woods near the motel after the rape incident, police said, but Felony and Gator found him quickly. The defendant is currently awaiting trial.

In another key case, the dogs sniffed out a bank robber.

"We were dispatched to a bank robbery case in Ypsilanti three years ago. After an intensive search, Felony found the suspect buried in sand under a swimming pool deck about two miles from the bank," Shoenbach said.

"The robber had struck just about 5 p.m. and the cache of (specially prepared) money he stole blew up in his hands, implanting dye on his skin. He then stole a bike from a nearby apartment complex and pedaled to the pool area, where he buried himself in sand. But despite all that work, Felony was still able to sniff him out for local police and Federal Bureau of Investigation officers," he said.

- Terry Shoenbach

Shoenbach said when a police department contracts for a dog unit operation through his K-9 Academy, he makes arrangements for the police department to purchase the dogs through Holiday Kennels of Harrow, Ontario, Canada.

Cor and Drina Vander-muren, Holiday Kennels owners, supply "German Shepherds that are bred from German-born dogs," Shoenbach said.

"We demand first that the selected dogs be sociable and friendly, because of their many public appearances both in the line of duty and during public demonstrations," Shoenbach said.

The other key qualities the dogs must have are "top confidence in themselves and a high retrieval drive," he said.

Shoenbach said he arranges for the various department K-9 operators to take their dogs home with them, as soon as the dogs are selected. He said he even joins the interview process for K-9 operator selections themselves.

Once the dogs and officers are united, Shoenbach said, they are jointly trained in obedience efforts, tracking, narcotics detection, evidence searches, building and area searches and handler protection.

For the next three months, the dogs and operators spend two days a week and 8 hours a day undergoing intensive search training, he said.

"I prefer working with dogs weighing under 100 pounds," Shoenbach said, "with 80 to 90 pounds being the ideal weight. The bigger dogs tend to have a much shorter work life and are less agile on the job."

In addition to Van Buren Township, where they serve with their own dogs, the Shoenbachs have trained dogs and operators for Sumpter Township, Canton Township, Taylor, Highland Park, Hamtramck, St. Clair Shores, Novi, Royal

New Salvation Army leader sets goals

By AL POST
ANP Staff Writer

The first priority of Capt. P. Mark Welsh, recently installed as commander of the Wayne-Westland Salvation Army Corps, is to develop a strong partnership with local businesses, service clubs and church leaders to help area families face their life crises.

The veteran Salvation Army officer and his wife, B. Sue, were officially assigned to head the programs at the newly constructed $1 million facility on Venoy Road in Westland on July 1.

The new corps and community center is located across the street from the old center at the NorWayne Shopping Center.

The new officers are the first husband and wife team to be assigned to the Wayne-Westland Salvation Army Corps in its five year history. Their leadership will allow the Salvation Army to create more in-depth programming and servicing for the corps service area including Wayne, Westland, Romulus, Inkster and Garden City.

The Welshs were ordained and commissioned in 1981 and were first assigned to Saginaw, where they worked for eight months, before being dispatched to Howell, where they served as leaders of a Community Corps Center and Thrift Stores for five years.

Since then the couple served in Monroe for three years and Warren for four years, before being called to the Wayne-Westland Corps Center in July.

Welsh is excited about the expansive new Salvation Army center, its large advisory board headed by former Superintendent of Schools Roy Klay and the more than 30 people currently attending the Corps religious services.

"We are trying to set up our priorities for the fall, while working on summer youth programs," Welsh said.

Among the early priorities are an expanded food pantry for the needy, a hot meal center and efforts to encourage and aid the unemployed, he said.

"We want to work with businesses, church leaders and service clubs to constantly encourage persons of all ages and races," Welsh said.

With much of the in-house work being finalized, Welsh said, his next great ventures will be into the inner cities of Wayne, Westland and Romulus so that he can meet the public first hand and learn what problems need urgent attention.

Group to purchase $7,000 service dog

By JENNIFER PLACINTO
ANP Staff Writer

This Independence Day was very special for Westland resident Rick Korzon.

This year, he received the promise of real "independence" since a diving accident 14 years ago left him confined to a wheelchair. And this taste of freedom comes with another bonus...constant companionship, unconditional devotion and unquestioning obedience in a large furry package with huge brown eyes.

Through the assistance of Westland firefighters and community members involved in Westland Dignity of Independence Committee, more than $7,000 was raised to purchase a Paws With a Cause (PAWS) dog for Korzon.

A dog has already been matched to Korzon's personality and needs and the two are expected to meet for the first time this fall, according to Assistant Fire Chief Mike Reddy.

The committee includes Westland City Councilwoman Sharon Scott, Wayne-Westland School board Treasurer Patricia Brown, Eileen DeHart, assistant to State Representative Justine Barnes, Westland 18th District Judge C. Charles Bokos, Westland Assistant City Clerk Patricia Gibbons, residents Michelle Rohraff and Marty Reddy and fire officials Reddy, Assistant Chief George Riley and Fire Marshall Patrick Harder.

Together this group procured funds through a public awareness committee carnival, a Beaver Creek softball tournament, a firefighter's taco stand at the Westland Festival, cash contributions and a

PAWS raffle.

The winning raffle tickets were drawn by a PAWS dog on the Westland City Hall steps July 4, according to Reddy. A first, second and third place winner was awarded in the PAWS raffle with John Inngs of Plymouth taking home the grand prize, a three-day, four-night trip for four to Las Vegas. Westland resident Joel Bialek won the second prize dinner and a movie for four and the third prize winner, Tom Schwieterman of Farmington Hills, won dinner and a movie for two.

PAWS dogs not only serve as loving companions, they are truly man's best friend helping the physically challenged with everyday needs.

"These service dogs do unbelievable things for people," Reddy said.

PAWS trains hearing and service dogs. Hearing dogs learn to respond to some sign language, the doorbell, telephone, alarm clock, smoke alarm, an intruder and various other sounds. Service dogs learn to pull a wheelchair, open doors, turn on/off lights, banking, bracing and retrieving objects. Both dogs must learn to avoid distractions such as cats.

Fund established to aid area psychic

On April 8 of this year, Elizabeth DeSouza, known to many throughout the area as the psychic Elizabeth, gave birth to a healthy baby girl-Briana Estrellita DeSouza.

Both the single mother and baby were scheduled to return home April 12. That morning, however, complications occurred leaving the new mother in critical condition on life support systems at the University of Michigan Hospital in Ann Arbor. She was given less than 5 percent of a chance for recovery.

After 12 weeks, DeSouza's condition has improved considerably. She has come out of a coma and is working toward living independent of medical care. What is ahead, however, are additional surgeries and a very long and difficult period of physical rehabilitation.

In addition to coping with numerous physical disabilities in conjunction with the many demands associated with caring for an infant, DeSouza will return home to numerous financial debts and expenses.

Because she is self-employed as the owner of the Westland-based Psychic Connection, her survival and the well-being of her baby rely on her ability to generate an income—something she has not done and will not be able to do for many months to come.

To help the well-known businesswoman and her baby begin their lives together, a fund has been established to assist with the purchase of infant necessities. Cash contributions are being sought to aid DeSouza in caring for her daughter.

Checks or money orders are being accepted by: Briana's Rainbow Fund, 7359 Kingston Court, Westland, Mich. 48185. Checks should be made payable to the fund.

DeSouza has provided a regular horoscope column in the Associated Newspapers for the last three years.

Local family wins tourist honor

The Patterson family of Westland was recently recognized as the first Tourists-of-the-Week for the summer of 1994 in the city of Fredericton, Canada.

Bob Patterson, Westland community development specialist, his wife Nancy and two children, Joe and Mark, visited Fredericton as part of their New Brunswick Province family vacation over the July 4 weekend.

The family came to New Brunswick to visit relatives near Woodstock and have travelled frequently along the Saint John River to Fredericton and other points of interest. The couple also travelled to the area for their honeymoon 13 years ago.

As Tourists-of-the-Week, the Patterson family received complimentary passes to Kings Landing Historical Settlement and many other gifts.

Rodeo, entertainers highlight fair

By JOAN DYER-ZINNER
News Editor

"Bigger and better than ever," is the enthusiastic description of the 1994 Wayne County Fair provided by Karen Slobodnik.

"This year will be a terrific year for the fair," said Slobodnik, a member of the Wayne County Fair Association.

Because there are so many exciting events slated, Slobodnik and fellow board member Candice Youtsey have started early to promote the Aug. 9 to 13 fair.

"We've got a professional rodeo, the Laradoes singing '50s and '60s songs and the U.S.A. Demolition plus the Council approves downtown funds

Wayne City Council members approved last week the Downtown Development Authority (DDA) plan for the fiscal year 1994-95.

The plan included $1,495,310 set aside for the new Wayne Public Library project which is targeted for an August ground breaking. Wayne has received a $546,000 state grant which will go toward the construction of the new building.

Another $300,000 grant from the Library Services and Construction Act will also be used for the development.

The $4 million library is expected to take 15 months to construct, according to Ed Marman, president of the new Wayne Library Board. City officials are hoping to open the new library in the fall of 1995.

DDA funds set aside for the city general fund totaled $1,876,192.

Other DDA funds approved by the council included: Goudy Park amphitheater-$15,875; State Wayne Theater-$122,500; commercial revitalization plan-$32,903; and landscaping improvements in the downtown area-$10,000.

Specialty Care Works for Millions of People.

Each year, some 120,000 people have their hip replaced. About 1.1 million elderly men and women have cataract surgery. More than 260,000 persons will have heart by-pass surgery. For millions of Americans like these, direct access to specialty care is essential.

Health care reform may place limits on patients' access to specialty care. Reform may also place limits on their freedom to obtain treatment from any physician they choose. America's orthopaedic surgeons want Congress to put patients first by protecting timely patient access and physician choice.

Join us in protecting the 70 million Americans who need access to surgical specialty care and want to choose their own physician. Tell your Representative and Senators in Washington that unrestricted access to specialty care and choice of physician must be preserved.

For further information about protecting specialty access and physician choice, call 1-800-756-1100.

for up to 30 children, Plond revealed, and thus family members can get a chance to view the jungle gym, arts and crafts area and nap areas in the center.

The day care center opens daily at 7 a.m. and closes at 6:30 p.m. Monday through Friday and services infants, toddlers and pre-schoolers, Plond explained.

"We keep a ratio of one teacher for every four children," she said, "and Holly McFaul is the head teacher."

The weekly cost to enroll children at the center is as follows: $110 for infants, $95 for toddlers (1 year olds to 2-1/2 years) and $85 for preschoolers (2-1/2 to 5 year olds).

Parents are urged to have their enrolled children bring a sack lunch each day (a microwave oven is available to warm the food items).

The YMCA provides a breakfast-type snack about 8:30 a.m. and an afternoon snack about 3:30 p.m.

The tots are treated to a story session and singing exercise daily, arts and crafts period, outdoor walk (weather permitting) and a nap.

Each week the center offers a theme for the children. The themes for August will be: "Under the Sea" for the first week, "Safari Jungle" for the second week, "Circus Time" for the third week and "Good-bye Summer, Hello Fall" for the fourth week.

For additional information contact the center at 721-7044.

Merchants slash prices for sidewalk event

By MARGO DEWEY
Deputy News Editor

The weather will not be the only thing sizzling this week. The popular Wayne sidewalk sale is heading to the community July 28-30, and area residents will be able to select from a lot of hot items.

Merchants in the city are slashing prices on quality merchandise in order to provide the best value for their customers.

Items for sale will include: clothes, shoes, jewelry, lawn equipment, house supplies and more.

Store hours will vary, however, most merchants will remain open from 9 a.m. to 7 p.m. during the sale days.

Wayne is celebrating 38 years of having a sidewalk sale. Store owners began the tradition in 1956 with sales existing mainly on the sidewalk.

Today sales will occur not only outside but inside the store buildings, according to Wayne Councilwoman Donna McEachern who is also the director of the Wayne Chamber of Commerce.

"It's an event the entire family can enjoy," McEachern said. "Each store has something special to offer all the residents in this community."

Residents can expect to find sale signs throughout the following businesses participating in the sidewalk extravaganza this year:

- Burger King-33540 west Michigan Ave.-728-0078.
- Cakes by Georgie-3027 Wayne Road-728-7300.

3-day Missouri trip

Bargain days are fast approaching, but the sidewalk sale isn't the only event area residents can enjoy.

The Wayne Merchants Committee in conjunction with Carlson Travel Network/Suncoast Travel is launching once again an exciting contest during the sale days July 28-30, and the grand prize is a free trip.

"You can enter as many times as you like," said Donna McEachern, Wayne councilwoman and Chamber of Commerce director. "The trip is for two to Branson, Missouri."

The grand prize excursion will include a three-night stay at Set-ler's Inn, two tickets to two shows and round-trip airfare on Northwest Airlines.

Entry blanks are available at participating merchants. Residents just need to look for the identifying cowboy boot in the store window of those merchants involved in the sidewalk sale.

Participants must be 18 years old to enter the contest. No purchase is necessary.

"The drawing will take place 3 p.m. Aug. 1 at Sun Coast Travel," said McEachern. "We will notify the winner by phone."

Her store items may be small in size, but Pat Sabourin (top), owner of Country Mouse, has given her customers big reductions for the sidewalk sale. Donna McEachern, director of the Wayne Chamber of Commerce, has organized another hot contest for the sidewalk sale with the Wayne Merchants Committee in conjunction with Carlson Travel Network/Suncoast Travel. The Wayne Sidewalk Sale attracts bargain hunters from as far as St. Clair, Christie Bond (bottom left), and Sterling Heights, Katharin Bond. ANP Special Photo

The art of business

Parkway Office Supply discounts supplies during sale

Red hot summer sales will be heating up at Parkway Office Supply in Westland, 2118 South Wayne Road.

Owner Jon Hisey said he has all the name-brand office supplies on sale to meet any business needs.

"I have art supplies this year on sale which is something new," Hisey said. "That includes all the brushes, pads and paints. Everything is discounted in that area."

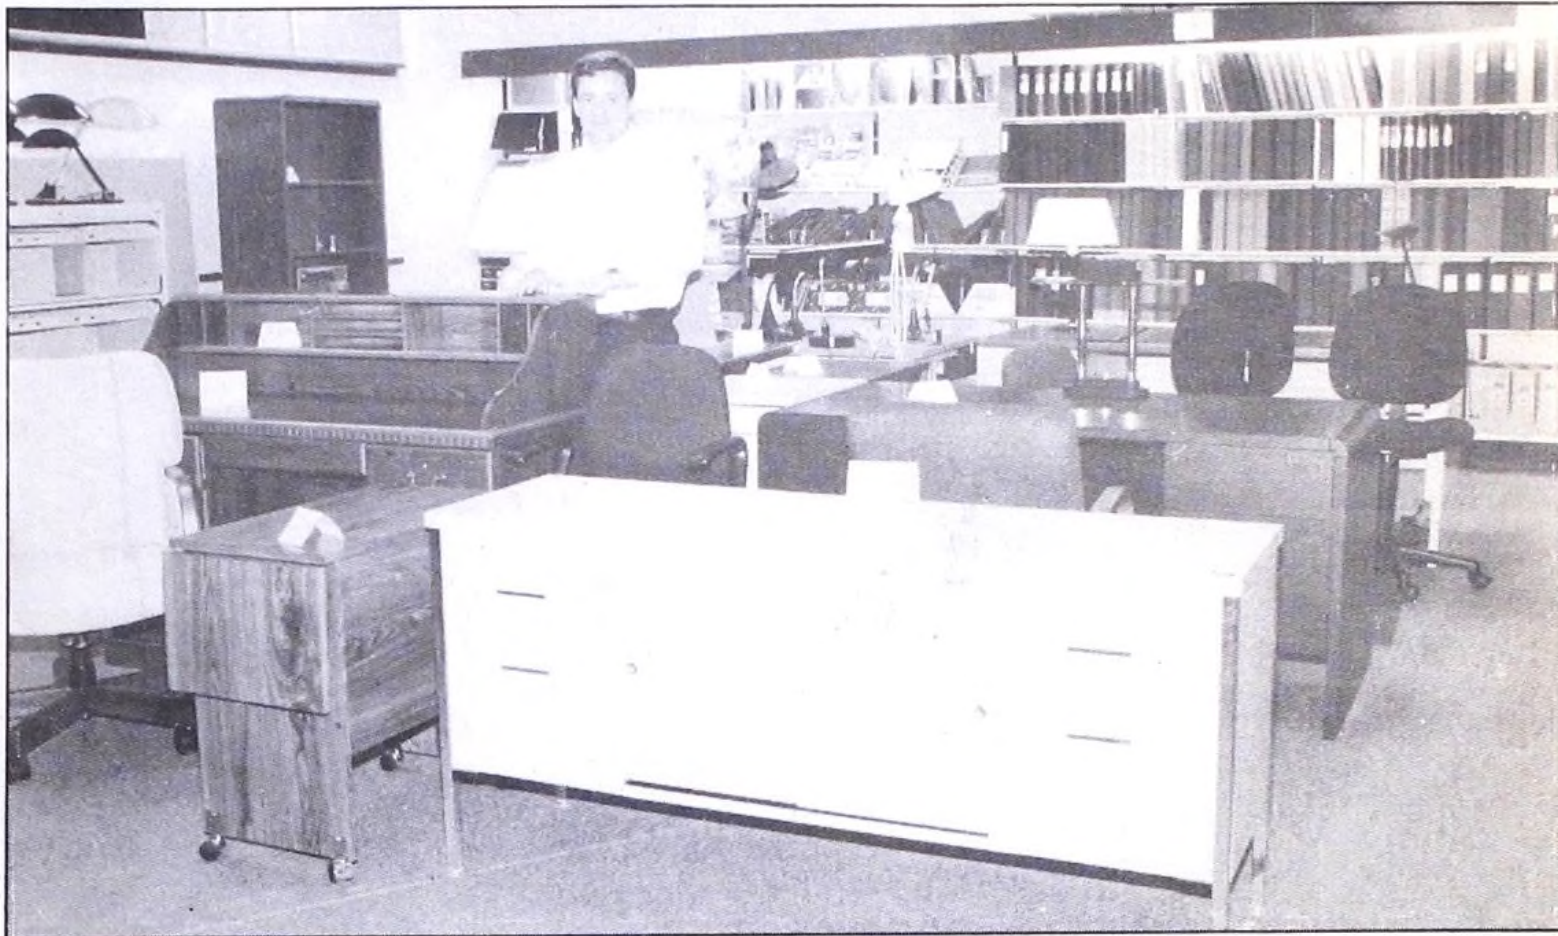

Hisey has also marked down a wide variety of fireproof safes for the home which start at $24 and are grey in color.

"We also have a two-drawer style safe that's discounted," Hisey said. "Another value would be the Hon every day chairs I'm putting on sale for $99."

Other reduced items will include: folders, self-stick notes, labels, pens, binders, clips, staples and paper.

Parkway carries the most up-to-date merchandise which includes computer equipment such as the Prodigy software and computer chairs by Globe.

For store hours during the sale call 722-0550.

Sidewalk sales in Wayne have always been popular with residents even in the 1960s. D & D Hardware (top left) was a hot spot for bargains as well as Cobb Pharmacy (top right). In 1982, Kresge offered slashed prices on tank tops and jeans. Although the styles of hair and clothing have changed throughout the years, the popularity of getting a good deal will never grow old.
